Although recognizing the force of the arguments for continuing the use of BGN for place name checking and name editing, the Department is unable to concur, at least so far as it is concerned, in the second recommendation that the cost of this service be borne pro rata by the agencies represented on JISPB. JISPB to the Central Intelligence Group as of July 1, 1947. With this transfer, it may be assumed, will go the responsibility for authorizing any contingent or real liabilities in respect to the production of JANIS or its successor.

Accordingly, I suggest that plans for the current year's production of JANIS should omit any dependence upon the contribution of funds by the Department of State.
